Hi Tony,

O.K. just keep in mind these folks know nothing about chickens, they may act like they do but all they know is what they read in articles. You may need to help educate many of them why we do certain things for example, we molt for significant economic reasons and we stopped molting cost us??? Dollars but we did it because we feel that is the right thing to do once we realized we had SE....after we made the change to a lab that we felt was better....

Try to sleep well.

Chuck

Hi Tony,

I don't recognize any of the names of the folks that were on the to part of the e-mail. Do you have a full listing of them? I will try to find out more about this type of SE.

Take care,

Chuck
