

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE
COST ESTIMATE

January 7, 2010

H.R. 2314
Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization Act of 2009

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Natural Resources on December 16, 2009

H.R. 2314 would establish a process for a Native Hawaiian government to be constituted and recognized by the federal government. CBO estimates that implementing this legislation would cost about $1 million annually in fiscal years 2010-2012 and less than $500,000 in each subsequent year, assuming the availability of appropriated funds. Enacting the bill would not affect direct spending or revenues.

The bill would establish the United States Office for Native Hawaiian Relations within the Department of the Interior (DOI) to consult and coordinate the relationship with the Native Hawaiian governing entity. Based on information from DOI, CBO expects that the office would require up to three full-time personnel. H.R. 2314 also would establish the Native Hawaiian Interagency Coordinating Group, consisting of officials from interested agencies. Finally, the bill would create a nine-member commission responsible for creating and certifying a roll of adult Native Hawaiians. Based on information from DOI, CBO expects that this commission would need three years and three full-time staff to complete its work.

H.R. 2314 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments. Enacting this legislation could lead to the creation of a new government unit to represent Native Hawaiians. The transfer of any land or other assets, including land now controlled by the state of Hawaii, would be the subject of future negotiations.
