SENATE ART IN STAMPS

The Eagle and Shield

Artist unknown, ca. 1834
Old Senate Chamber, 2nd floor, Senate wing
25¢ Stamp, issued April 6, 1989

Because of its long association with the Senate, the eagle and shield was chosen for a stamp issued to commemorate the bicentennial of the U.S. Senate in 1989. The first-day of issue ceremony for the stamp was held in the Old Senate Chamber, which has been restored to its mid-19th century appearance. Architect Benjamin Henry Latrobe planned for the carved gilt eagle and shield to be placed in the Old Senate Chamber, the Senate's meeting place from 1810 to 1859.

George Washington

Painting by Rembrandt Peale, 1832
Old Senate Chamber, 2nd floor, Senate wing
5¢ Stamp, issued November 17, 1967

The 5-cent issue of President George Washington in the Prominent American Series (1965–1971) was based on the "porthole" portrait of the first president by Rembrandt Peale. Public disappointment with an "unshaven" Washington on the original stamp resulted in a refined version a year later. The Prominent American Series includes 18 stamps, each in a different denomination.

The Recall of Columbus

Painting by Augustus George Heaton, 1892
East hallway 3rd floor, Senate wing
50¢ Stamp, issued January 2, 1993

In 1893, the painting The Recall of Columbus was loaned to the Chicago World's Columbian Exposition for the celebration of the 400th anniversary of Columbus' landing in America. That same year, the Post Office Department chose the painting to illustrate the 50-cent stamp in its first ever commemorative series. Artist Augustus Heaton chose to depict the point in Columbus' life when he was assured of financial support by the Spanish Crown for his exploration. The painting was purchased by Congress in 1884.

First Reading of the Emancipation Proclamation of President Lincoln

Painting by Francis Edwin Carpenter, 1864
West staircase, 3rd floor, Senate wing
39¢ Aerogramme, issued November 20, 1989

The stamp portion of the 39-cent aerogramme issued in 1989 was adapted from a painting by Francis Carpenter in the U.S. Senate Collection. The stamp designer removed the cabinet members in the original painting and moved President Lincoln and Postmaster General Blair closer together. Known as the "Blairogramme," the postal issue was dedicated at the 1989 World Stamp Expo.

The Vice Presidential Bust Collection

The design for each stamp in the Presidential Series of 1938 was determined by the first ever national stamp design competition. The series includes six postal issues based on marble busts of vice presidents, who were also presidents, from the U.S. Senate Collection. The marble busts were commissioned by the Senate for placement in niches in the Senate chamber gallery and throughout the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Vice Presidential Bust Collection forms the Senate's oldest continuing collection and honors the presidents of the Senate.

John Adams

Marble bust by Daniel Chester French, 1889
Senate chamber gallery, 3rd floor, Senate wing
2¢ Stamp, issued June 3, 1938

The 2-cent John Adams stamp was issued as part of the Presidential Series of 1938. John Adams was vice president under Washington, and president from 1797 to 1801. Adams was among the first honored in the Senate's Vice Presidential Bust Collection. Massachusetts sculptor Daniel Chester French executed the bust. The artist's most celebrated work is the statue of Lincoln in the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C.
