Barry Calogero State Executive Director, New Jersey

Barry Calogero was appointed by the Trump Administration to serve as the state executive director of the New Jersey USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) in November 2017.

Calogero brings over 30 years of financial experience across various domestic and international operations, most recently serving as operations manager for Greater Alliance Federal Credit Union.

Calogero previously worked as a senior vice president at ConvergEx Group, along with being the managing director of operations at HSBC Securities Inc. and Baring Securities. In these positions, he prided himself on his ability to manage large groups, reduce budgets and implement efficiencies. Over the course of his career, Calogero has spent time overseas managing a global workforce in South Africa, Mexico, Canada and the United Kingdom.

During his time as state executive director, Calogero looks forward to meeting New Jersey agriculturalists, working hard to help them succeed and carrying out Secretary Perdue's mission to "do right and feed everyone."

Calogero grew up in Richmond Hills, Queens, New York. He now resides in Jackson, New Jersey, where he serves as a councilman. He and his wife have been married for over 30 years and have three children and one grandchild.
