Bruce Richeson State Executive Director, Utah

Bruce Richeson was appointed by the Trump Administration to serve as the state executive director of the Utah USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) in November 2017. He previously held this position during the George W. Bush administration.

Richeson grew up in Ogden, Utah, and attended Weber State University, where he received a bachelor's degree in political science.

In addition to his previous appointment as state executive director, Richeson has served as marketing director for the Bank of Utah, marketing director of the Utah State Department of Agriculture and Food, senior advisor to Senator Bob Bennett and a contract negotiator for the U.S. Air Force.

Richeson and his wife, Vickie, reside in West Haven. They have seven children and 13 grandchildren.
