Employee Benefits Security Administration U.S. Department of Labor,

I am one more voice in favor of protecting last year's Fiduciary Rule. It holds retirement advisers to give advice that is good for their clients- the exact reason that their profession exists. This is an anti-corruption measure. Its no wonder some people want to repeal it. Conflicted advice costs retirement savers $17 billion each year. I urge the Department of Labor not to water down the fiduciary rule's enforcement provisions and not to create massive loopholes in this protection.
