Reference: DOL Fiduciary Rule
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am a small investor (Roth and Traditional IRA) who has been perfectly satisfied with my relationship with Edward Jones for over 10 years.

I'm not happy with Edward Jones attempts to comply with this Rule and I feel the effects of this Rule interferes with my freedom to be in charge of my financial affairs. In a few words, I should be allowed to sign an agreement to act as my own Fiduciary.

I see a lengthy letter from the Securities and Financial Markets dated August 9, 2017 concerning this Rule. I hope your response to that letter will take into account the wishes of older investors like me. After all, our President has just turned 70, and he seems to be doing an outstanding job for this Country.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Nancy L. Clark
