

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) in Vermont

What is SSI?

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) is a federal program that provides monthly payments to people who have limited income and resources. SSI is for people who are 65 or older, as well as people of any age, including children, who are blind or who have disabilities.

To qualify for SSI, you must also have little or no income and few resources. The value of the things you own must be less than $2,000 if you are single or less than $3,000 for married couples living together. We don't count the value of your home if you live in it, and, usually, we don't count the value of your car. We may not count the value of certain other resources either, such as a burial plot.

To get SSI, you must also apply for any other government benefits for which you may be eligible. You must live in the United States or Northern Mariana Islands to receive SSI. If you're not a U.S. citizen, but you lawfully reside in the United States, you still may be able to get SSI. For more information, read a copy of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for Noncitizens (Publication No. 05-11051).

The state of Vermont adds money to the federal payment. The single payment you get in the beginning of each month includes both the federal SSI payment and your supplement from Vermont.

Medical assistance

If you get SSI, you usually can get medical assistance (Medicaid) automatically. If you have questions about Medicaid, contact your local Vermont Department of Disability Determination Services.

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

If you get SSI, you may be able to get help through SNAP, formerly known as food stamps. SNAP can help you buy more food without spending more money. Social Security, however, doesn't decide if you qualify for SNAP. If everyone in your household is applying for or receiving SSI, you can apply for SNAP at a Social Security office. If not, you must apply at your local Department of Prevention, Assistance, Transition, and Health Access (PATH) office.

Other social services

Other services you may be able to get through PATH include:

- Information, referrals and follow-ups;
- · Homemaker and chore services:
- Community placement services; and
- Rehabilitation services.

For more information, contact your local PATH office.

Monthly SSI payment amounts

The table below lists combined federal and state payment amounts. Not all SSI recipients get the maximum amount. Your payment may be lower if you have other income.
