

February 18, 1985

It was a great honor to be chosen by Vice President George Bush and Majority Leader Robert Dole to read George Washington's Farewell address to the United States Senate. It is fascinating for me to participate in making history in this great country. Even though modern day representatives in Washington changed the date we honor Washington's birthday his message remains the same - duty - honor - country.

Paula Hawkins
U.S. Senator
Florida