

February 22, 1950.

Pursuant to the Resolution of the Senate and by designation of Vice President Barkley I have read today the enclosed Address of our First President. It remains one of the outstanding utterances of American history and shall ever be a fitting reminder of our duty to abide by the lessons of the past. Furthermore, the efflux of time has served to emphasize its soundness, foresight and judgement. Its re-reading makes us even more proud of American Citizenship.

Robert H. Colson.
