Mr. Navarro –

Thank you for your email. As I mentioned to you in the attached emails, there are topics that the Select Committee believes it can discuss with you without raising any executive privilege concerns at all, including, but not limited to, questions related to your public three-part report about purported fraud in the November 2020 election and the plan you described in your book called the “Green Bay Sweep.” If there are specific questions that raise executive privilege concerns, you can assert your objections on the record and on a question-by-question basis.

It is unclear from your correspondence whether you plan attend tomorrow’s deposition, as required by the subpoena. We plan to proceed with the deposition at 10 AM in the [REDACTED]. Please feel free to contact me when you arrive so someone can escort you to the conference room.

Thank you,
[REDACTED]

Please be advised I have been clear in my communications on this matter. Below is my response. As I note, privilege is not mine to waive and it is incumbent on the Committee to directly negotiate with President Trump and his attorneys regarding any and all things related to this matter.

[REDACTED]
Senior Investigative Counsel
Select Committee to Investigate the January 6 Attack
US House of Representatives

Dear [REDACTED]:

Please be advised that President Trump has invoked Executive Privilege in this matter; and it is neither my privilege to waive or Joseph Biden’s privilege to waive. Accordingly, my hands are tied.

Your best course of action is to directly negotiate with President Trump and his attorneys regarding any and all things related to this matter.

In closing, I note that the United States government is in possession of all my official White House communications which your committee has requested. While I do not give my permission for your Select Committee to access this information as it involves privilege, I am at least advising you of this fact.

Thank you,

Peter Navarro
