COPS offers a variety of publications, products, and training opportunities to advance community policing and support its grant programs. COPS publications and products offer insights and experiences from others in the field addressing specific problems including:

- ✓ School COP software and accompanying Guide to Using School COP to Address Student Discipline Problems
- ✓ COPS Innovations: Addressing School Related Crime and Disorder
- ✓ The Law Enforcement Tech Guide: How to plan, purchase and manage technology

COPS also sponsors training opportunities and conferences to give law enforcement professionals an opportunity to learn, network, and exchange ideas. COPS publications and training opportunities are posted at COPS Online, www.cops.usdoj.gov.

Secure Our Schools

America's children spend more time in school than almost any other place outside the home. That places a huge responsibility on American schools and those charged with keeping them safe. In a time when a wide range of weapons traffics illegally among America's youth, maintaining school safety becomes an increasingly difficult task. Classrooms no longer depend solely on teachers, but on teams of administrators, health care workers, security staff, and law enforcement professionals. Keeping America's children safe has become one of this nation's most successful collaborations, and it is a shining example of community policing.

The COPS Office has long demonstrated a commitment to school safety. COPS has invested more than $866 million in America's schools through programs like COPS in Schools, School-Based Partnerships, and the Safe Schools Initiative. COPS expanded that range of programs in fiscal year 2002 to include Secure Our Schools (SOS). In FY04 SOS distributed nearly $10 million to help schools in 220 jurisdictions having high-risk areas respond to growing safety concerns. Grantees are required to contribute a local match of 50 percent toward the total cost of the approved grant project.

Background

SOS gives grantees the opportunity to establish and enhance a variety of school safety equipment and/or programs to continue to improve school safety efforts within their communities. SOS grants help cover the cost of security measures such as the placement and use of metal detectors, locks, lighting, and other deterrent measures; security assessments; security training for students and personnel; coordination with local law enforcement; and other measures that could significantly increase the school's security. COPS worked with grantees to ensure that these funds address the most pressing security needs of our young people while they are in school. SOS addresses a variety of existing and emerging problems relating to school security through responses that range from traditional to innovative and rely on both new technology and the experience of school administrators and law enforcement professionals.

Law enforcement officers are encouraged to consult with school violence researchers, child psychologists, principals, and other school personnel to develop community policing programs to prevent school violence. These programs should be tailored specifically to improve each school's safety efforts.
