SEC’s Collection of Information

An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid control number. Section 54(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (“1940 Act”) provides that companies, which have notified the Commission of their election to be regulated as business development companies under the 1940 Act, may withdraw their election by filing a notice of withdrawal of election with the Commission. Section 54(c) also authorizes the Commission to prescribe a form for purposes of this notice of withdrawal of election. Pursuant to that authority, the Commission adopted Form N-54C, the filing of which is mandatory by companies that wish to withdraw their election to be regulated as business development companies under the 1940 Act. The Commission adopted Form N-54C to provide a uniform notification system of withdrawals of election. The information collected on Form N-54C is publicly available. Any member of the public may direct to the Commission any comments concerning the accuracy of the burden estimate of this Form and any suggestions for reducing the burden of the Form. This collection of information has been reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget in accordance with the clearance requirements of 44 U.S.C. § 3507.
