

WAR DEPARTMENT,
A. G. O.

MILITARY INFORMATION DIVISION.

NUMBER
2.

REPORT

ON THE

ORGANIZATION

OF

THE GERMAN ARMY.

BY

MAJOR THEODORE SCHWAN,

ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL, U. S. ARMY.

WASHINGTON:
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.
1894.

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I—MILITARY SERVICE.

	Page.
Liability to military service	9
Service in the standing army	9
The landwehr	9
The ersatz reserve	9
The landsturm	10
Exceptions to rules touching commencement and length of service	10

CHAPTER II—PEACE STRENGTH.

Legislation in reference to the peace strength of the standing army	11
Cost of military and naval establishments, 1872-93	12
Extensions	13
Organization and aggregate strength of the various arms and corps	13
Variation in the strength of organizations within the same arm	14

CHAPTER III—OFFICERS.

Principles governing the promotion of officers	17
Overslaughting of officers, its effect	17
Assignment (promotion) to the higher commands	18
The company	18
The battalion	18
The regiment	18
The brigade	19
The division	19
The army corps	19
The infantry instruction battalion	21
Conditions of admission to the corps of officers	22
Officers of the reserve and landwehr	24
The training of the army	25
Powers and duties of the commander-in-chief, and his relations to the contingents composing the army	26
Noncommissioned officers	30

CHAPTER IV—"INSPECTIONS."

Inspections of special arms, technical and educational institutes, etc	33
The cavalry inspections	33
The inspection of field artillery	33
The general inspection of foot artillery	33
Inspections of artillery depots	34
Of the artillery manufacturing establishments	34
Of the small arms and cartridge factories	34
The chief of the artillery proving commission (Artillerie Prüfungs-Commission)	35
The general inspection of the engineer and pioneer corps and of fortresses	35
The inspection of rifles and sharpshooters	35
The general inspection of the system of military education and training	35
The superior military committee on studies	36
The superior military examination committee	36
The inspection of war schools	36
The corps of cadets	36
The combined artillery and engineer school at Berlin	37
The inspection of the infantry schools	37

CHAPTER V—THE PRUSSIAN WAR MINISTRY.

	Page.
Nature and general scope	39
The central division	39
The general war department	39
The department of military economy	40
The department for the invalid system	40
The arms department	40
The remount division	40
The medicinal division	40
The division for personal affairs	40

CHAPTER VI—WAR STRENGTH.

War organization, preparatory measures	41
Supposed war strength of peace cadres and new formations	42
Aggregate war strength	45
Reasons adduced for and against the increase of the strength of the army	45
Provisions of the newly enacted army law	47

CHAPTER VII—THE GENERAL STAFF.

General remarks. The term general staff defined	49
Historical sketch	50
Present organization	60
The peace establishment (Friedensetat)	60
The war establishment	62
Status and sphere of duty	62
The chief of the general staff of the army	62
The superior quartermasters	62
The general staff officers serving with troops or at fortresses	62
The great general staff	63
Central division	63
First division	63
Second division	63
Third division	63
Fourth division	63
The railway division	64
The division of military history	64
The geographical statistical division	65
The chief of the survey	65
The trigonometrical division	65
The topographical division	65
The cartographical division	65
The map room (Plan Kammer)	65
Special duties of the general staff	66
The general staff practice tours	66
Great general staff tours	66
Corps general staff tours	67
Fortress general staff tours	67
Detail (Kommando) to the great general staff	67
Appointment to the general staff	68
The higher adjutantur	69
Inspection service	70
Army inspections	70

CHAPTER VIII—THE WAR ACADEMY.

The commission of studies	73
The instructors	73
The library of the academy	74

	Page.
Detail	74
Conditions of admission	74
The entrance examination	74
The examination programme	74
The examination proceedings	75
The course of instruction	75
The method of instruction	76
The scope of instruction	76
The scope of general subjects	77
Tactics	77
Military history	77
General staff duties and practice tours	78
Apportionment of studies	79
Classes	79
Lecturers	79
Examinations	79
Conditions of transfer to a higher class	80
Service with other arms	80
Return to regiment	80
Diplomas	80
Special reports	80
Relief from the detail at the War Academy	80

CHAPTER IX—MILITARY ADMINISTRATION.

Fundamental principles	81
The intendantur	82
Selection and training of intendantur officials	84
Paymasters	84
The magazine administrations	85
The garrison administrations	87
The hospital administrations	88
The corps clothing departments	88

CHAPTER X—FINANCE.

Public funds and property	89
Monthly revisions	91
Quarterly revisions	91
Unexpected revisions	92
Money allowances	92
Maximum rates of pay	93
Pensionable income and pension rates	96
Regimental officers	96
Military and civilian officials of the military administration	97
Enlisted men	98
Pay of captain of the first and second classes	98
Extra compensation and allowances	98
Table money	99
Equipment money	99
War equipment money	99
Relief funds	99
Children's tuition	100
Various funds	100
Fund for the repair of clothing and equipment	100
Fund for the repair of arms	100
Fund for the repair of material used for target practice, etc	100
Office allowances	100
Horseshoe and horse-medicine money	100
School and exercise money	101
Artillery target practice money	101

CHAPTER XI—SUBSISTENCE AND FORAGE.

	Page.
General principles	103
Subsistence of troops in the enemy's country	104
Supply of troops from the magazines	104
The ration (Portion)	105
Officers' messes	106
Supply of forage	106
Subsisting troops and foraging animals in war	107

CHAPTER XII—CLOTHING, EQUIPMENT, ARMS, AND AMMUNITION.

Clothing and equipment	109
General remarks and principles	109
Management of clothing by the troops	111
Management of clothing in war	112
Field equipage	113
Musters	113
Train depots	114
Arms and ammunition	114
General remarks and principles	114
Practice, augmentation, and reserve arms	115
War and practice ammunition	115
Repairs of arms in the hands of troops	116

CHAPTER XIII—BARRACKS AND QUARTERS.

Shelter of troops, horses, and material	117
General principles and definitions	117
Barracks	118
The arrangement	118
The fitting up of barracks	119
Articles for expenditure	120
The utilization of barracks	120
Private barracks	121
Management of barracks by troops	121
Official residences	122
Commutation of quarters, fuel, light, stables	122
Additional money allowances on account of quarters	123

CHAPTER XIV—SPECIAL CORPS.

The military clergy	125
The sanitary system	125
Military apothecaries	126
Military veterinarians	126

CHAPTER XV—ADMINISTRATION OF MILITARY JUSTICE (Militär-Rechtspflege).

General remarks	129
Discipline and disciplinary punishment	130
Scope of the disciplinary punishment power	130
The authorized disciplinary punishments	130
Execution of disciplinary punishments	132
Complaints	133
General principles	133
Admissibility of complaints	133
Limitation of complaints	133
Admonition	133
Decision—Notice of decision	133
Complaints of a number of persons	134
Measures against unfounded complaints	134

	Page
Complaints— Continued.
Channel of complaints for officers	134
Official mediation	134
Choice of mediator	134
Refusal to act as mediator	134
Action of the mediator	134
Institution of the complaint	134
Channel of complaint of noncommissioned officers and soldiers	134

CHAPTER XVI—MILITARY JUDICIAL SYSTEM (Militär-Gerichtswesen).

General remarks	137
Investigating court	137
The preliminary investigation	137
The sentencing court	138
Procedure	138
Confirmation and promulgation of the judgment	138
Execution of military court sentences	139
Different kinds of arrest	139
The court of honor	141
The council of honor	142
Investigations of courts of honor	142
Promulgation	143

