Objectives

The purpose of this taxpayer research project is to accurately and objectively monitoring any significant changes in taxpayer awareness of E-file options as a result of 1999 PSA communications.

Methodology

This study encompassed a total of 1605 WATS-line CATI telephone interviews with taxpayers. These interviews were divided in the following manner:

Interviewing Dates	Number of Interviews
December 16 – 30 (1998) ...	604
January 21 – 28	200
February 11 – 17	200
March 11 –18	201
April 16 – 25	400

Screening

All respondents were screened to ensure they ...

- ◆ Were at least 18 years of age;
- ◆ Had filed a 1998 federal tax return, or would be filing a 1998 federal tax return;
- ◆ Were the household member most responsible for deciding the method the household uses to file its federal tax return;

Awareness of Federal Tax Return Advertising

After screening, all respondents were asked the following initial unaided question:

“First, do you recall seeing or hearing any advertising recently about different ways that federal tax returns can be filed?”

Recall of advertising regarding filing options grew steadily through April. This growth resulted in a significant gain for the survey year of 19 percentage points (35% to 54%).

Percent claiming to recall advertising regarding different ways tax returns can be filed.

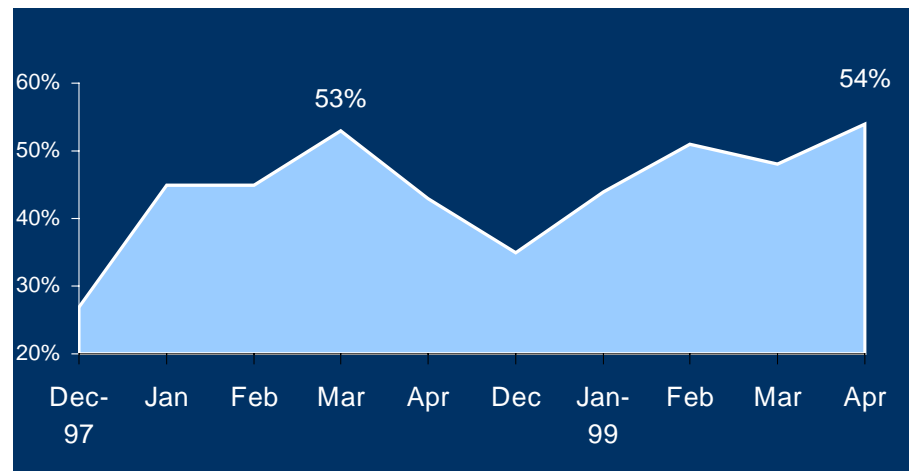

Awareness of Federal Tax Return Advertising

Despite these gains in 1999, the percentage of taxpayers claiming to recall advertising in April of 1999 (i.e., 53%) is essentially the same level as March of 1998.

Hence, no overall net gain was achieved in 1999.

Percent claiming to recall advertising regarding different ways tax returns can be filed.

Specific Awareness of Federal Tax Return Advertising

All respondents who initially claimed they recalled advertising were next asked what the advertising they saw/heard “said or showed”. These open-ended responses were coded by the key elements of E-file.

As the chart on the following page indicates, there were no significant differences in response between December and April with respect to Electronic Filing, Telephone Filing, and Computer Filing.

However, mentions of IRS E-file did gain significantly (i.e., from 2% in December to 6% in April.)

BASE: Total Sample

When all of the advertising recall response -- i.e., not just the coded responses -- are taken into consideration, and based upon those claiming to recall advertising for filing options, the following is observed:

- Mentions of Electronic Filing declined most of the year but recouped the total loss with the April wave of interviewing.
- Mentions of Computer Filing declined through February, recouped with the March wave of interviewing, and held that position in March. Hence, the levels of response for Computer Filing were essentially the same in April as they were in December.
- Mentions of Telephone Filing gained in January, fell through March, and ended the year at essentially the same level as December.

BASE: Aware of Advertising

Of those who claimed to recall advertising, there were essentially no changes between December and April of this year with respect to mentions of “rapid refunds.”

However, mentions of ‘rapid refunds’ have substantially declined since February of 1998.

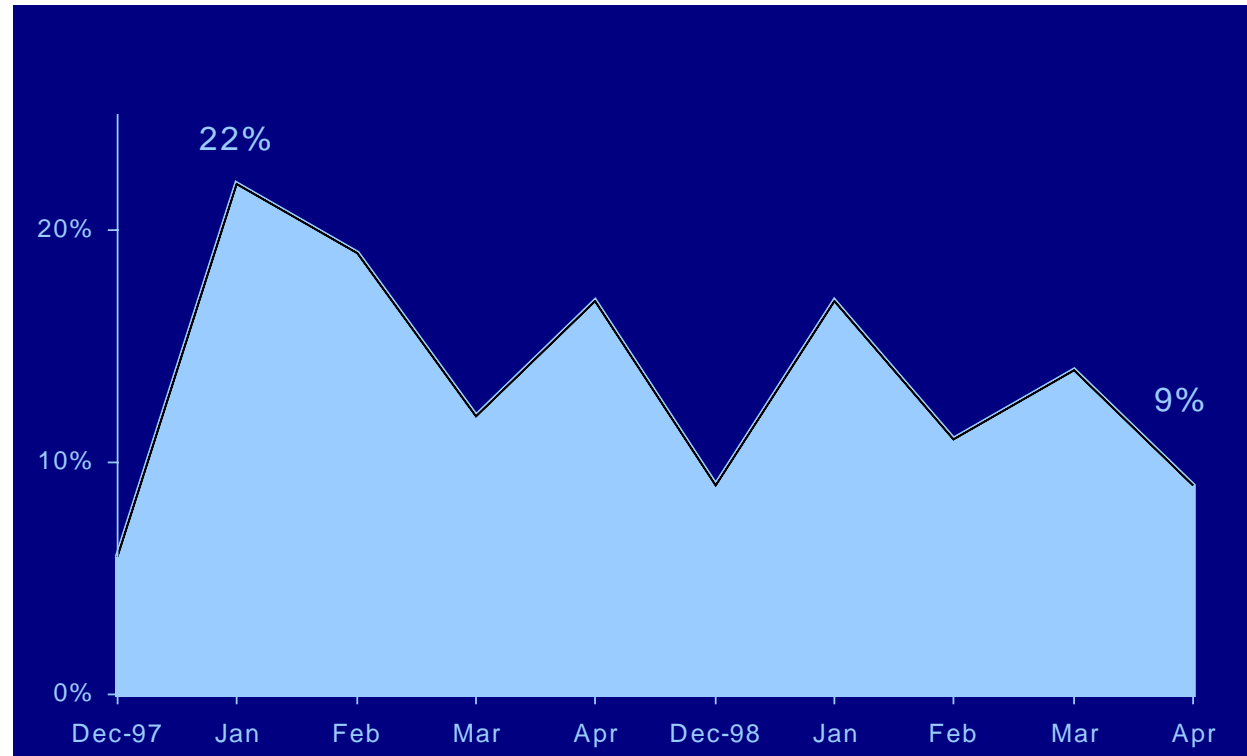

Percent Mentioning Recall of Advertising For ...

Rapid Refunds

While there were no changes this year with respect to recall of Telephone Filing advertising, it should be noted that, of those who claimed to recall advertising, mentions of Telephone Filing have declined from a high of 22% in January of 1998 to 9% in April of 1999.

Aided Awareness of Federal Tax Return Advertising

All respondents were next asked the following aided question:

Do you recall seeing or hearing any advertising recently about ... ?

As the table on the following page indicates, all of the major filing options displayed significant gains during the course of this tax season.

The largest gain (of 10 percentage points), was posted by Electronic Filing, followed by Personal Computer Filing (which posted an eight percentage point gain.)

As the this table indicates,
since December of 1997 ...

- Electronic Filing has increased from 27% to 36%%;
- Personal Computer Filing has increased from 21% to 33%.
- IRS E-file has gained from 11% to 23%;
- And TeleFile has gained from 11% to 19%.

The table on the following page shows the growth of these options since December of 1997.

Where Recall Seeing/Hearing Advertising For ...

All respondents who said they recalled advertising for a specific filing option were asked where they recalled seeing or hearing that advertising.

- With respect to IRS E-file, response related to TV advertising -- despite a slight fall-off in April -- ended significantly above the levels achieved in December (going from 3% to 9%).
- Radio response also gained (from 1% to 5%).
- Mentions of IRS Material started at 4% -- moved to 8% in February -- and ended in April at 3%.
- Mentions of Newspaper recall began at 2% -- rose to 5% in February -- and then fell back to 2% in April.

Recall of Specific Advertising Features

All respondents were read the following:

I'm going to read you some phrases about filing that were mentioned in advertising.
As I read each feature, please tell me if you recall hearing this feature advertised.

The interviewer then proceeded to read the statements noted on the next page. Each statement was rotated to minimize any possible positioning bias. Some of these statements are new for the 1998 tax season. All were prepared to reflect the communications propositions mentioned in the 1998 tax filing season PSA advertisements. Their purpose, of course, is to enable measurement of any changes in awareness of these propositions over time.

The chart on the following page lists the attributes and displays the response for each interviewing wave of the 1998 tax season.

Awareness Issues

Awareness of Ways Taxes Can Be Filed (Unaided)

All respondents were read the following question:

There are a number of ways taxpayers can file their returns. One of the ways a tax return can be filed is simply by mailing it in to the Internal Revenue Service. But there are other ways to file a federal tax return. Please name for me all of the ways you can think of that you can use to file your tax returns other than by mail. What other ways can you think of?

IRS E-file, Electronic Filing, and TeleFile all ended the year significantly above the levels achieved in December.

Personal Computer Filing was unchanged for the year.

Awareness of Ways Taxes Can Be Filed (Unaided & Aided)

Respondents who did not mention “Electronic Tax Filing”, A Personal Computer’, ‘IRS E-file’, or “TeleFile” in response to the previous unaided question were next asked the following question:

I’m going to read you a number of ways taxpayers can file their federal tax returns and, as I read each way, please tell me if you were aware of it before today. Let’s start with ... Before today, were you aware that you could file your federal tax return using ... ?

This response was combined with the ‘unaided’ response to form a Total Awareness measurement.

As the table on the following page indicates, Total Awareness of ...

- Electronic Filing declined slightly throughout the year, then rebounded in April, and finished the year at the level it started;
- Computer Filing followed the same pattern. That is, it declined slightly throughout the year, then rebounded in April, and finished the year at the level it started;
- Telephone Filing gained through March, gave back some of its gain, and ended the year significantly above the December levels.
- IRS E-file grew consistently throughout the year and ended the year significantly above the December levels.

The 'Refunder'

The following section of this report briefly examines the 'refunder' from a demographic, behavioral, and survey measurement perspective.

Expect A Refund

71% of those interviewed who had filed their 1998 tax return said they expected to receive a refund on their tax return.

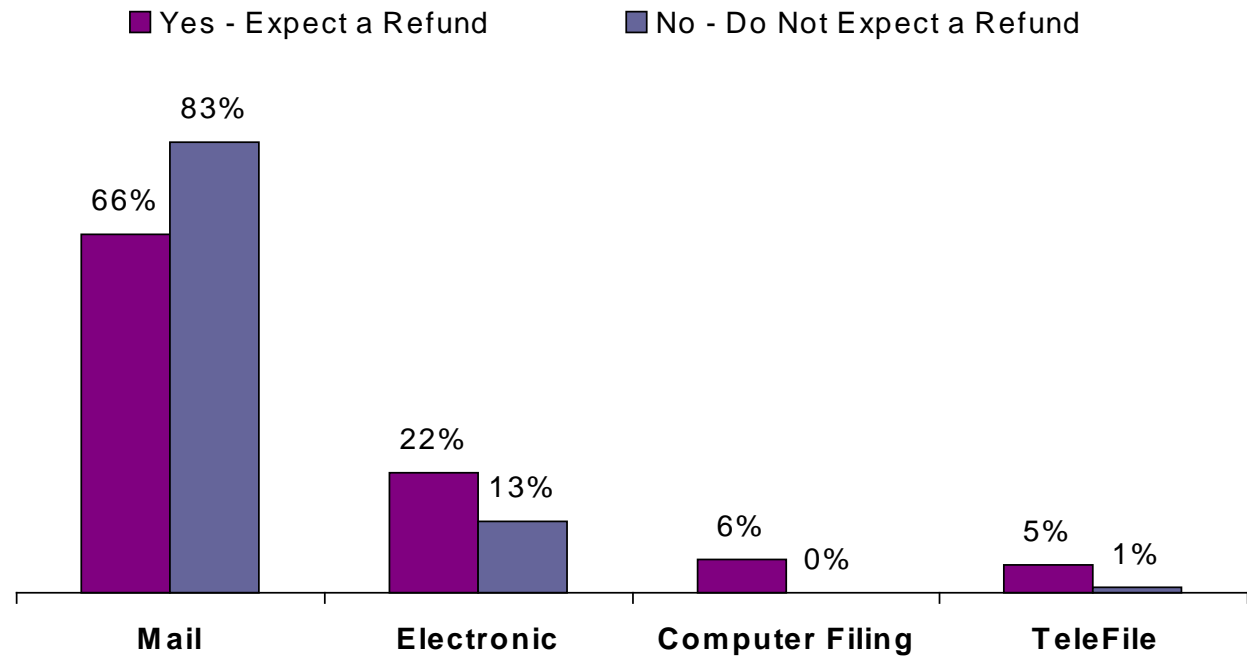

Q.: Do you expect to get a refund?

Way Filed Tax Return

Of those who filed a return ...

- 66% who expected a refund file via the Mail;
- 83% of those who did not expect a refund file via the Mail.

Note that those expecting a refund more often use electronic filing methods (as expected).

Q.: Which way did you file?

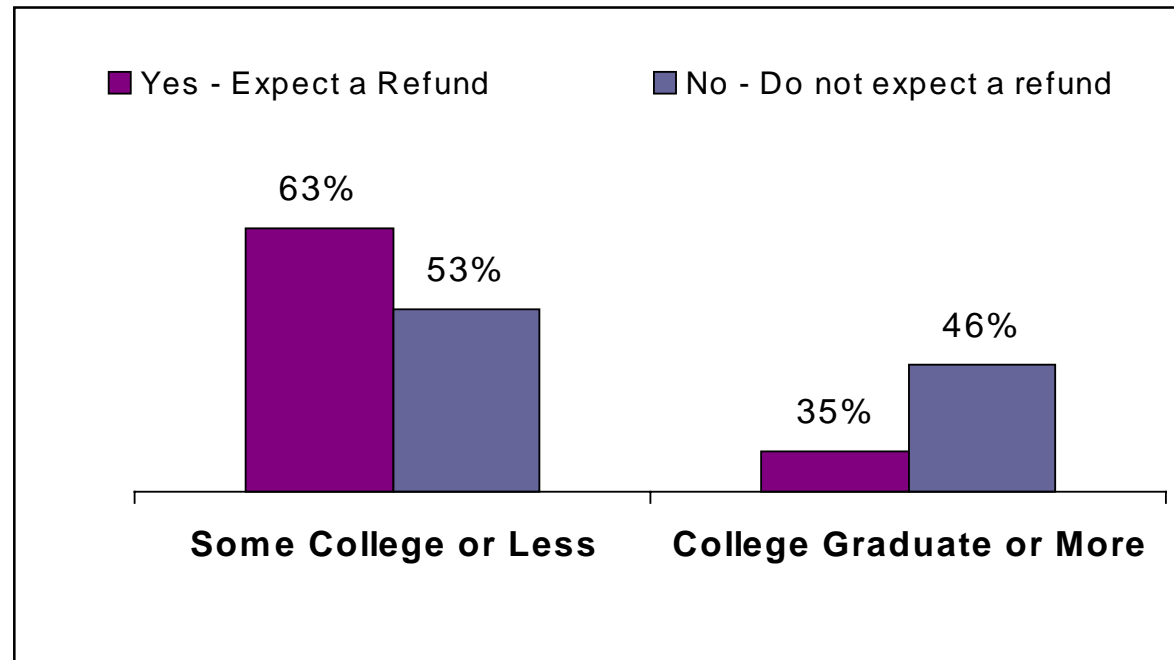

Understanding the Refunder

Those who expected a refund were younger than those who did not expect a refund.

Those who expected a refund were not as well educated.

EDUCATION

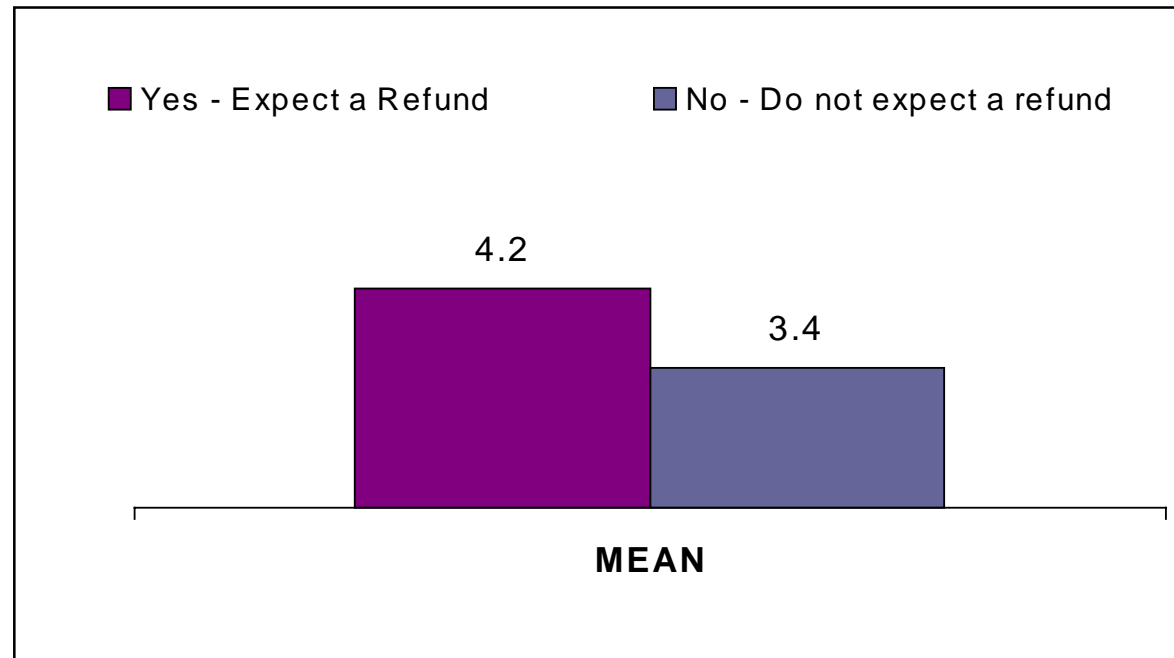

Those who expected a refund had relatively lower incomes.

Note that a large percentage had incomes of $25,000 to $49,999.

Those who expected a refund spent slightly more time on the Internet than their taxpaying counterparts who did not expect a refund.

HOURS IN PAST WEEK ON THE INTERNET OR WWW

Those who expected a refund spent more time listening to the radio than those who did not expect a refund.

HOURS SPENT LISTENING TO RADIO (WEEK)

There were no differences between those who expected a refund and those who didn't with respect to the hours they spent watching TV.
