

July 19-1997

Dear Sir,

Recently there have been proposals to change the meaning of the "Made in the U.S.A." label. Simply said "Made in the U.S.A." should mean exactly that, made in New York, PA, U.S., Del. or any of the other states. Not material made in USA & then shipped to Mexico or somewhere else for sewing & then assembled in Shanghai. Ridiculous. Made in U.S.A. should mean just that, that an American is taking home a pay check for a honest days work, producing a good product.

Please keep it that way.

Sincerely,
