Re: SpyWare

I have had an ever escalating problem with "Spy-Ware" and such parasitic invasions which seem to be An intrusive, invasive, unasked for and maddening intrusion into my personal business and pleasure... In intrusion and invasion inflicted upon myself and my family through our computer.

To my wife and myself, it is irritating as well as daunting, considering the extremes we must go to to defeat these intrusions.

The thing that troubles me the most is the level of response due to these invasive trackers and such impose upon our 7 Year Old Son...

These vampiric leeches and scrofulous legal toads may prate about their rights but it is "We, The People" that they are imposing upon!!!

May I at least hope that at some point that they would have the good grace to simply Discorporate...

Please help the citizenry/users to stave off these offensive, unwanted and unwarranted invasions of our privacy.

Thank you
