

From: Cheryl
Posted At: Friday, May 14, 2004 11:52 PM
Conversation: Spyware Workshop - Comment, P044509
Posted To: spywareworkshop2004

Subject: Spyware Workshop - Comment, P044509

PLEASE help us get rid of the scourge of spam. Spyware not only invades our privacy, but it clogs the net.

FAR WORSE than this though, if one of their computers is infected with a virus, worm, or trojan, it attacks the nation....the WORLD and brings the net down.

Economies will be tragically affected.

So many people are "newbies" and don't know how to protect their computers, and spyware takes advantage of this. But in the long run, more viruses and worms will become more and more sophisticated, and hackers and terrorists will bring almighty modern technology to it's knees.

Even if this wasn't a possibility, spam causes such an anger in people that they use spam programs or email rules that delete "false positives." How many important messages have to be lost because of this? How will our nation and world be affected?

Isn't there enough problems to overcome without adding more anger and frustration? Why does money and capitalism dictate what should be done?

HOW ABOUT WHAT IS MORALLY RIGHT????

Sincerely,
Cheryl Swift