My name is Jeff and I enjoy my time on the Web. Well I did that is until I started getting pop ups. Now I get these things like it's my job. I can't even get on with my son anymore because anytime we type something in we get hit with so much crap and some of the screens won't let you close them. I typed in a search for produce for a project he was doing and I'll be damned if we didn't get 10 -15 Pornography pop ups right in his little 6 yr old face. I feel like a captive on my own computer. I am writing this now because on the first of the month we will no longer have internet service. I am shutting it off until you folks can figure something out about this. That's really sad too.

Quick look busy, JESUS IS COMING!!!
