

To Whom It May Concern;

I would greatly appreciate a specific title in the subject line that gives a specific warning, regarding the content of an email containing sexually explicit content. Though our server does provide a spam filter, some of these messages still manage to get through. I prefer to not see any of them, if possible. ALL of these messages have been extremely offensive and I know I am not the only one who feels this way. I appreciate your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Mindy Edwards
