OSM/VISTA Regina Seal recently began her service in Hancock County, Tennessee. She will focus her efforts on testing the water for contaminants and using the findings to help resolve any problems that arise. Despite setbacks due to the weather, Regina continues to persevere in her water monitoring work. She is also working throughout the community to raise the awareness of the problems within the creek and recruit volunteers to help in testing and cleanup. Other major projects include helping out with the area children's summer recreation program and planning a Summer Festival and Fall Festival, which help low income families provide care for their children.
