From: Keith A. Duncan
Posted At: Monday, April 05, 2004 1:43 PM
Posted To: spywareworkshop2004
Conversation: Spyware Workshop - Comment
Subject: Spyware Workshop - Comment

I feel that Spyware is nothing short of intrusive privacy invasion. Alot of it is installed on people's computers without their knowledge or consent. It consumes MY bandwidth that I AM PAYING FOR, and gives me nothing in return but grief. Most of it is poorly written and can cause computers to crash, sometimes even to the point of needing reformatted. It is a drain on computer resources for no good reason but for the profit of the company that employs said spyware. And to think that these companies have made an empire out of my grief! The companies that employ these methods to invade privacy and cause unnecessary computer woes should be made to answer for their indiscretions.

Keith A. Duncan