

From: Dave Howard
Posted At: Friday, May 14, 2004 11:16 PM
Conversation: Spyware Workshop - Comment, P044509
Posted To: spywareworkshop2004

Subject: Spyware Workshop - Comment, P044509

Having spyware on your computer is like having a remote control on your television that allows advertisers to change the channel against your will. Also, there is absolutely no reason for anyone to be gathering information about you without your direct knowledge and consent. My 12-year-old granddaughter cannot give her consent. If adware companies think they are providing a service, let them come out in the open and market their "service" like everyone else.