I am just a home person, who hates receiving unwanted emails by unknown persons, and hate that they have the rights to invade my computer ! I can't even enjoy reading the emails I want to receive from persons I do give my email address to send me information I want to know about. There should be some way to keep them from taking my time to delete their emails. If I wanted to give them my information it should be of my choice not theirs.

Thank you ,
