Hi,

My name is Keith Herek and I am just an average PC owner and net surfer. Along with Spam I think Adware and Spyware suppliers should be criminally charged if and when possible. They are nothing more than common thieves trying to steal something or con something out of someone because it's easier than working hard at a real job. Thieves are subject to the laws for their crimes and I believe that these SAS violators (Spam Adware & Spyware) should be also.

I know it's just my opinion and probably doesn't mean anything but I can tell what I think.

Thank you.
