Greetings.

I've been an avid comp-user since DOS 2.1, LOTUS123, and DBASE4, But in recent years, things have really gotten out of hand with the spy/adware crap. This junk is absolutely lousy, burdens my systems' resources and caused my system to crash and burn numerous times. Firewalls can only do so much and they are not fool-proof. And they only add to the resource problem by having another application running in the background to keep out the garbage.

This un-solicited junk is a real security hazard as well. I have numerous accounts for on-line business that I cannot afford to have some goof-ball looking into.

I don't know about you, but if this spy/ad ware doesn't cease, I for one will probably start using moorse-code to conduct any e-business.

Thank you for your audience.
