Good morning from Australia!

Spyware - spam - adaware

plenty of tools available to remove!

I think the main problem computer users have is the total ignorance of some fundamental understanding of the system - and the computer manufacturers seem to love it.

Windows updates are free and easy to get. Spyware tools are easy to install. Antivirus programs in all shapes and form - some free. But some people just buy a computer and expect it to work for ever without any maintenance. Why are these basic tools not installed and a machine with pre-installed opsys?

The end-user is kept in the dark (I think on purpose) - otherwise the manufacturers would do something!

Keep up your good work - Thank you

Cheers

Ingolf
