I am 100% against all types of Spyware and Adware. I was just forced to buy a new computer because my old one was so overrun with spyware that it was rendered completely useless. Something needs to be done. This junk that gets imbedded in my computer is neither requested nor appreciated. When I get my regular mail at home, I walk by my trash can and I have the option to throw away the junk I do not want. Why can't we have the same option in place for computers? If thee sleaze ball companies gave us the option, I bet that 99.99% would opt against having it installed on their machines.

Do something worthwhile in your position. GET RID OF SPYWARE!!!!

Respectfully,
