I find it hard to believe that the FTC is afraid to put pressure on spyware and adware companies. These companies are malicious and create damage to untold computers everyday.

There should be a class action lawsuit against these companies for the invasion they pose on unsuspecting people. I would even consider their actions terroristic in nature.

Why can't agencies like the FTC make a stand against these companies and put them out of business once and for all. If the FTC allow these companies to continue business as usual then the FTC is as much a scourge as any.
