The U.S. Postal Inspection Service is a federal law enforcement agency. Postal Inspectors gather facts and evidence to determine whether a violation has occurred under the Mail Fraud or False Representation Statutes. While the Postal Inspection Service can't guarantee that you'll recover money lost to fraud, the information can help alert Inspectors about new fraud schemes and prevent others from being victimized.

Postal Inspectors base mail fraud investigations on the number, substance, and pattern of complaints received from the public; therefore, we ask you to keep all original documents relating to your complaint, including the solicitation, any mailing envelopes, and canceled checks. Under our Consumer Protection Program, Postal Inspectors may contact individuals or businesses on your behalf to request that complaints be resolved. We will contact you if more information is needed.

Postal Inspectors caution that, once you've been targeted in a fraud scheme, your name may be passed along to other con artists, so beware of future solicitations. If you know of others who believe they were victimized in a fraud scheme, we recommend that you encourage them to submit a Mail Fraud Report as well.

Avoid being a victim: Postal Inspectors recommend that, before completing a business transaction, contact the Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau, or county or state Office of Consumer Affairs in the area where the firm is located to get any information available on the company. If you have Internet access, you can get information from the Better Business Bureau online at: www.bbb.org, and from the individual state Attorneys General Consumer Protection Divisions at www.naag.org. Also, check the Postal Inspection Service Web site at: www.usps.gov/postalinspectors for more information on fraud schemes that involve the use of the mail.

Remember: If a deal sounds too good to be true, it probably is!
