

John D. Windhausen, Jr.

John D. Windhausen, Jr. is a telecommunications veteran with nearly 15 years of experience in Washington, DC, including on Capitol Hill and at the Federal Communications Commission. As ALTS President, Windhausen speaks on behalf of the CLEC industry on the full range of legal, regulatory and commercial issues critical to the industry's continued growth and success.

From June 1996 to January 1999, Windhausen served as General Counsel for the Competition Policy Institute, a non-profit consumer-advocacy organization that promotes competition for energy and telecommunications services. In addition, since 1997 he has served as Adjunct Professor of the Communications, Culture and Technology Graduate Program at Georgetown University.

From 1987 to 1996, Windhausen was Senior Counsel and Counsel for the Communications Subcommittee of the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee, where he was responsible for advising Democratic Senators including Senator Hollings and Senator Inouye. Prior to his work in the Senate, Windhausen was a Staff Attorney in the FCC's Common Carrier Bureau, from 1984 to 1987.

Windhausen holds a Juris Doctor degree from the UCLA School of Law, and a Bachelor's degree in History from Yale University.