National Medal of Science Award Call for Nominations

The Committee is seeking nominations for the President's National Medal of Science. The President of the United States presents the Medal to individuals who deserve special recognition for their outstanding contributions in the social and behavioral sciences, biological, engineering, mathematical and physical sciences.

We encourage diverse and high quality nominations for the 2005 Medals. Candidates could be colleagues, mentors, or associates such as Edward Witten (string theory); George F. Bass (pioneer of ocean technology and nautical archeology); Susan Solomon (ozone research). Information on recipients is available at <http://www.nsf.gov/nsb/awards/nms/recipients.cfm>

*The Nation's highest honor
for American scientists and engineers.*

Eligibility criteria and the nomination guidelines are available on the National Science Foundation's Fastlane Honorary Awards site at <https://www.fastlane.nsf.gov/honawards/>.

Who is eligible: Candidates must be living U.S. citizens or permanent residents who have applied for citizenship within the past 12 months.
