16. ABSTRACT This report is part of a series of documentation for the Total Risk Integrated Methodology (TRIM). TRIM is a time series modeling system, with multimedia capabilities, designed for assessing human health and ecological risks from hazardous and criteria air pollutants. The detailed documentation of TRIM's logic, assumptions, equations, and input parameters is provided in comprehensive technical support documents for each of the three TRIM modules, as they are developed. This report documents the Environmental Fate, Transport, and Ecological Exposure module of TRIM (TRIM.FaTE) and is divided into two volumes. The first volume provides a description of terminology, model framework, and functionality of TRIM.FaTE and the second volume presents a detailed description of the algorithms used in the module.
