

18. Acknowledgements

The preparation, organization, conduct and documentation of an international event of the scope of this Global Forum necessarily involved the collective efforts of a very large number of dedicated people from many governments and all walks of life. It is not possible to enumerate and appropriately recognize every one of these individuals, without all of whom the Global Forum would not have been possible.

This said, the Secretary General and the Global Forum Secretariat wish at this point in this Final Report to express their recognition and profound appreciation for the assistance of the following individuals, whose contributions were indispensable to the success of this event.

The Moderators of each of the Global Forum sessions are indicated in the parts of this Report dealing with those sessions. Each of these sessions was developed, arranged and organized by an office or agency of the United States Government. The Secretariat extends its gratitude to each of the individual managers of the sessions for their dedicated work over many months before the Global Forum: Jeffrey Bialos, Special Adviser to the Under Secretary of State for Economic, Business and Agricultural Affairs; Dr. Stuart Gilman, Special Assistant to the Director, U.S. Office of Government Ethics; Stephen Bunnell, Special Assistant to the Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, Department of Justice; Dr. Charles Moskos, Anderson Chair, Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences, Northwestern University; Richard Werksman, Office of the General Counsel, U.S. Information Agency; Cdr. Robert Winneg, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Drug Enforcement Policy and Support, Department of Defense; Dr. Michael De Feo, Assistant Director, Office of Professional Responsibility, Federal Bureau of Investigation; Jerry Worley and Geraldine Baker, U.S. Customs Service liaison officers at the Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs, Department of State; Carl Lohmann, Office of the Assistant Secretary for International Affairs, Department of the Treasury; Tamara Faulkner, Office of Inspector General, Department of State; William McGlynn, Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State for Economic and Business Affairs; Dr. Harvey Richikoff, Legal Counsel to the Deputy Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation; Stephen Liston, Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of State for Global Affairs; Cynthia Farrell Johnson, Senior Adviser for Justice and Law Enforcement, U.S. Information Agency; Sebastian Libertore, Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs, Department of State.

The Secretariat throughout this period enjoyed the strong support and assistance of Leon Fuerth, National Security Adviser to the Vice President, Cpt. Michael Orfini, Office of the Vice President, and William Wechsler, National Security Council, who provided liaison with the host and Chairman of the Global Forum, Vice President Al Gore.

The Secretariat also expresses its gratitude to the officers assigned by each of the regional bureaus of the Department of State for their dedicated and imaginative support during preparations and during the Global Forum: Nerissa Cook, Senior Adviser for Law Enforcement Affairs, Office of the Ambassador at Large for the New Independent States; Mary Johnson, Office of Regional and Security Policy Affairs, Bureau of East Asia and Pacific Affairs; Faye Armstrong, Office of Policy, Planning and Coordination, Bureau of Western Hemisphere Affairs; Marlene Urbina de Breen, Economic Policy Staff, Bureau of African Affairs; Raymond Walser, Office of European Union and Regional Affairs, Bureau of European Affairs; Robert Boggs, Director, Office of Regional Affairs, Bureau of South Asian Affairs; Elizabeth Dibble, Office of Peace Process and Regional Affairs, Bureau of Near Eastern Affairs.

The Secretariat is particularly appreciative of the great assistance extended to the Global Forum by the very large number of men and women of the Department of State who are responsible for the protocol, security, administrative and other functions without which the conduct of a conference of this magnitude at the Department of State would not have been possible. With apologies to the many whose names cannot be repeated individually, the dedicated work of the following is gratefully acknowledged: Deborrah Schiff, Suzanne Morrell and April Guice, Office of Protocol; Carolyn Jackson and the many officials of the Bureau of Diplomatic Security that supported the event; Elizabeth Elliott Kimmell, Shirley Beard and the entire staff of the General Services Division, Bureau of Administration; Stephanie van Riegersberg and the entire Language Services staff that provided simultaneous interpretation for the Global Forum; the entire staff of the Office of Multi-Media Publishing Services, who produced the tremendous quantities of documents for the Global Forum, including this report. Special thanks are extended to Meg Ravenholt and the entire Department of State Visual Services staff for exceptional audio-visual services during the forum, and for providing video transcript of the Vice President's Roundtable session.

Thanks are offered to Denise Burgess, Jonathan Spalter, Nancy Ozeas and other members of the staff of the U.S. Information Service, who arranged for WebTV coverage of Global Forum sessions, and dealt with foreign media covering the event, and to Susan Walitsky of the Department of State Bureau of Public Affairs, who served as principal press adviser during the Forum.

Members of the staff of the Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs worked selflessly to assist the Secretariat in preparing and holding this conference. Naming all who assisted is not possible, but the following may be mentioned: Monica Brandon, Kay Burrell, Brenda Clark, Annette Day, Bonita Davis, Walesha Edmonds, Sandra Evans, Ardenia Hawkins, Bonita James, Horace Johnson, Scott McAdoo, Antoinette Minor, Sheldon Murray, Christine Samuel, Yvonne Schneider, Peter Tao, Valerie Talbert, David Thomas, Sheila Wise. Officers that assisted materially in the conduct of the meeting included: Col. Joseph Furloni, Robert McGarity, Stephen Peterson and Michael Senko. Particular recognition is extended to JoAnne Moore, whose organizational skills and extreme dedication in arranging for arrival, security check and entry of hundreds of participants at the State Department building received universal commendation.

Shortly after the Global Forum was held, the Secretariat was joined by David M. Luna, who was responsible for the analysis and development of the comprehensive Appendix containing all documentation of the Global Forum in the CD-ROM format that is included with this Final Report. Finally, the Secretary General expresses his deep appreciation to Sherman Hinson and James Vigil, Jr., who have carried out Secretariat functions from the beginning of preparations through the completion of this Final Report.
