NATIONAL CENTER FOR STANDARDS AND CERTIFICATION INFORMATION (NCSCI)

What Can NCSCI Do for You?

- NCSCI identifies standards and standards-related information to meet your requirements and exceed your expectations.
- NCSCI answers your questions on standards, technical regulations, and conformity assessment.
- NCSCI maintains a reference collection on standards for your use in the Center and on the Internet.

What Can You Learn About Other Countries' Standards and Conformity Assessment Systems?

NCSCI understands that you need accurate and current information. NCSCI uses these resources to help U.S. manufacturers and exporters identify specific product standards and regulations:

- Standards catalogs from many World Trade Organization (WTO) member countries
- Global WTO Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT) foreign inquiry points
- Regional and international standards groups
- Publications and technical regulations from other countries

NCSCI Serves You as U.S. Inquiry Point

- For the World Trade Organization's Agreement on Technical Barriers to Trade (WTO TBT)
- For the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA)
- For the International Organization for Standardization Information Network (ISONET)

How Can the WTO TBT U.S. Inquiry Point Help You?

NCSCI alerts you to changes in U.S., foreign, and international regulations and conformity assessment rules.

At NCSCI, the U.S. Inquiry Point under the WTO TBT Agreement (for non-agricultural products), you can learn:

- What are the latest proposed U.S. and foreign technical regulations?
- What are the latest proposed U.S. and foreign conformity assessment systems?
- Who are the current U.S. and foreign regulatory points of contact?
- What standards or technical regulations must exported and imported products currently meet?
