Summary: USAID's health program aims to expand the coverage of essential health services in Djibouti by increasing the supply of essential health services, improving the quality of services, and enhancing local capacity to sustain health services.

Inputs, Outputs, Activities:

FY 2004 Program:

Increase supply of essential services ($4,500,000 prior year ESF). USAID will develop a detailed health program aimed at expanding access to essential health services in Djibouti. The program will increase the supply of services by rehabilitating vital services in targeted facilities, by providing necessary equipment, and by establishing or refurbishing water systems to ensure a reliable water supply at the facility level. Focusing on improving areas for service delivery and ensuring the availability of required equipment will provide Ministry of Health facilities with the logistical means needed to implement key services. Principal contractors and grantees: to be determined.

Improve quality of services ($4,500,000 prior year ESF). USAID will support training activities at both central and district levels that focus on improving the management and quality of the delivery of essential medical services. Additionally, USAID assistance will enhance the delivery of training programs offered through the National Center for Training Health Personnel. Attention will be given to improving the ongoing training of paraprofessional health personnel as well as increasing the scope and quality of in-service training programs for public and private sector health providers. USAID will accomplish this through the provision of training equipment and materials with related activities that improve training curricula and methodology. Principal contractors and grantees: to be determined.

Enhance the local capacity to sustain health services ($3,000,000 prior year ESF). The program will aim to enhance community engagement in health sector programs to ensure that health programs meet community needs and empower communities to better protect and improve their health. Support will focus on two fronts. First, it will help mobilize communities to support health programs while strengthening the capacity of local associations, NGOs, and community health practitioners to undertake health activities. Second, USAID will support the wider application of the community health aid model through expanded training of community health aides. Principal contractors and grantees: to be determined.

FY 2005 Program:

USAID plans to continue the implementation of the health program aimed at expanding coverage of essential health services in Djibouti.

Performance and Results: The program will begin in early FY 2004. Thus there are no performance results to report at this time.

Upon program completion in three years, targeted health facilities will be providing a package of essential health services, targeted communities will have trained community health workers, and communities will be linked to and engaged with health facility activities through community health centers.
