INTRODUCTION

This Code Book is issued by the National Science Foundation for use by Federal Agencies participating in the reporting system originally established by the Committee on Academic Science and Engineering (CASE) of the Federal Council for Science and Technology. The codes in this book are to be used when reporting to the Survey of Federal Science and Engineering Support to Universities, Colleges, and Nonprofit Institutions. This first section contains codes for the participating Federal agencies and their subagencies, as well as for fields of science and engineering; the main body of the Code Book is devoted to institution identification codes, as explained below.

Since the publication of the last Code Book (January 1999) there have been a number of changes. A list of these changes, which include additions, deletions, and name and FICE code changes, appears on pages xiii to xxxiv. Note there are new entries for many academic institutions; please report all obligations to all academic institutions, and all R&D obligations and/or R&D plant obligations to nonprofit organizations regardless of amount (see pages v and vi).

The Code Book lists institutions of higher education in the United States and its outlying areas that offer at least one year of college-level studies in residence, as well as independent nonprofit institutions and all federally funded research and development centers administered by academic or nonprofit institutions. The primary institution identifier is based on the set of Federal Interagency Committee on Education (FICE) institution codes. This is an unstructured 6-digit number that is unique for each institution. For example, the code for Stanford University is 001305. An attempt has been made wherever possible to use institution codes compatible with those used by the Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES).

The Code Book listing for academic institutions is oriented toward the unique identification and coding of a structured universe of U.S. educational institutions in terms of "systems" of institutions, "individual" institutions, and "multi-campus" institutions. For practically every university system there is a separate code for the "System Office" that is to be used to report funds whose final distribution among institutions within the system was not known at the time the award was made. Likewise, for almost every multi-campus institution, there is a "Central Office" code for reporting funds whose distribution among the Branches of that institution was unknown. The "all-campus" codes listed are primarily intended for internal NSF data aggregation and storage. It is usually preferable to report obligations at the Branch level where possible, to be sure that no Branches have been overlooked. A listing of those institutions that are considered "systems" by NSF but are multi-campus institutions by NCES is shown on page xxxv.

If agencies have data to report for institutions not shown in the Code Book, NSF should be contacted for a determination as to whether the institution can be properly classified as a college or university. NSF, in cooperation with NCES, will assign codes to new institutions. The following information should be supplied for academic institutions not shown in the Code Book: the name of the institution, address (including the ZIP code), accreditation, highest level of degree offered in the sciences and engineering, the dates the institution was established and opened, and the number of degrees granted in the most recent academic year. The request for the assignment of an institution code should also include such information as the congressional district in which the institution is located, the organizational status of the institution (if a Branch or campus, the name of the parent institution should be provided), and the type of institution (community college, etc.).

The format on the next page may be used for new academic institutions. Enter all available data onto the form. Fill out a separate form for each university or college for which an institution code is needed.

For Department of Defense respondents:

Send two (2) copies to your agency coordinator for this survey. The agency coordinator will then send the two copies to the NSF address shown on the request form, one of which will be returned to the agency coordinator showing the assigned "NEW CODE NUMBER" at the bottom of the form.

For non-Department of Defense respondents:

Send two (2) copies to the NSF address shown on the request form, one of which will be returned to you showing the assigned "NEW CODE NUMBER" at the bottom of the form.

NEW CODE NUMBER: _____ (to be assigned by NSF)

A description of the types of nonprofit institutions follows:

1. Research institute - a separately incorporated, independent nonprofit organization operating under the direction of its own controlling body, the primary function of which is the performance of R&D in the sciences and engineering.
2. Hospital - A member of the American Hospital Association not subject to the control of either Federal, State, or local governments, nor an integral part of any institution of higher education. Hospitals that have been set up by research institutes and that, while providing patient care, function primarily as laboratories for the research institutes, are classified as "Research Institutes."
3. Professional or technical society or academy of science - A voluntary association of individuals sharing a common interest in the advancement of knowledge, either within a single field or across a broad spectrum of disciplines. The major function of these organizations is to aid and encourage the collection, collation, and dissemination of S&E knowledge for the benefit of their members and the community as a whole.
4. Foundation - A nongovernmental, nonprofit organization having a principal fund of its own, managed by its own trustees or directors, and established to maintain or to aid social, educational, charitable, religious, or other activities serving the common welfare. This organizational type includes operating foundations that allocate the greater proportion of their R&D budgets to intramural performance, and philanthropic foundations that allocate most of their funds to grants and contracts for research to be performed extramurally.
5. Science exhibitor - A nonprofit organization in which the primary goal is to expand the scientific literacy within its community by providing exhibits that display and interpret the latest scientific findings within its field or fields. Included in this category are museums, zoological parks, botanical gardens, and arboretums.
6. Trade association or agricultural cooperative - A trade association is an organization of business competitors, in a specific industry or business, that is interested primarily in the commercial promotion of products and services. Membership is usually held in the name of a business entity. Its activities may fall into one or more of the following: business ethics, management practices, standardization, commercial (i.e., statistical) research, publication, promotion, and public relations. An agricultural cooperative is an organization of individuals or business entities that are normally competitors in the production and sale of agricultural products. Its activities may include one or more of the following areas: collective marketing or purchasing, research, public relations, and the improvement of the economic condition of the farm population of the United States.
7. Other

If any of these new institutions have received obligations, a data submission in the format described in the Online Help Documentation should also be submitted; the institution code field should be left blank.

00 RESIDUAL AMOUNTS	This category is to be used when the total obligations (rounded to thousands) for a particular institution is greater than the sum of the rounded obligations by field. For example, suppose three awards are made to a particular institution—each for $1,400, and each in a different field of science or engineering. The total of these awards is $4,200 and would be reported as $4,000 in the “type-1 record.” The individual amounts for the “type-2 record” in thousands of dollars, however, round to $1,000 and would be reported as $1,000 for each of the three fields, or $3,000. So that the type-1 total matches the type-2 total, the residual amount of $1,000 would be reported with a code of 00.
